

PARTNERSHIP LEARNING TEACHING SCHOOL ALLIANCE

Developing Early Writing Skills

Delivered by:
Mary Erwin

National College for Teaching & Leadership

This course is for:

All Early Years and KS1 practitioners- NQTs and experienced class teachers.

Course aims:

The course aims to help teachers and practitioners teach writing in the Reception year of the Foundation Stage and through Key Stage 1.

It is designed to further develop understanding of how children develop as writers and how they can be moved from supported writing to independence. The use of strategies such as shared reading, talk for writing, teacher demonstration and teacher scribing will be explored, along with how to develop pupils' hand-writing and spelling skills.

Course Presenter:

Mary Erwin is an Education Consultant who has worked as an accredited inspector on behalf of Ofsted since 2008. As a former primary Head Teacher and local authority adviser, her key areas of expertise are leadership and management and English. She has delivered the Leadership Pathways programme for the National College for School Leadership, acting as facilitator and mentor for aspiring Deputy Head Teachers.
